Course 1

Course title	Individual lingual orthodontics as the future of everyday practice
Learning objectives	Aesthetics seem to be one of the major goals not only in dentistry but also in contemporary orthodontics. Nowadays more and more patients seek aesthetic orthodontic treatment such as tooth-toned labial appliances, aligners or lingual brackets. In order to achieve patient's satisfaction during orthodontic treatment an orthodontist should consider patient's opinion not only regarding the treatment plan itself but also the methods of the treatment. Lingual orthodontic appliances are claimed to be the most aesthetic of all orthodontic techniques for it is completely invisible and give both the patient and the orthodontist opportunities to observe and discuss all teeth movements throughout the treatment. Lecture will include individual lingual orthodontic appliances as a method of treatment in everyday practice.
