*Supported by the French Dental Association as a candidate 2024 for a vacancie in the Public Health committee

Dear President, dear friends and colleagues

I am pleased to submit my candidacy for the Federation Dentaire Internationale (FDI) Public Health Committee. At a time when oral health is a major concern more than ever, I am convinced that my experience, motivation, and skills will be an asset to the Committee.

Practicing in a private office for over 12 years, I have acquired in-depth knowledge of the challenges practitioners face daily in improving their patients' oral health. As General Secretary of the Union Française pour la Santé Bucco-Dentaire (UFSBD), which brings together more than 15,000 dentists and works to improve the oral health of the French population, I was able to take a global view of public health, integrating the perspectives of practitioners, patients, the general public, manufacturers, and political decision-makers. In this role, I have played an active part in implementing and rolling out preventive and health promotion initiatives throughout France, targeting children, the elderly, people with disabilities, and other at-risk populations.

My commitment to public health also extends internationally. I have collaborated with the Alliance for a Cavity-Free Future (ACFF) and the World Health Organization (WHO). Currently, I'm involved in two working groups at the FDI's European Regional Organization (ERO), as well as the public health working group of the Council of European Dentists (CED). In each of these roles, I have demonstrated my ability to bring new and innovative ideas to the table, contributing to the development and improvement of existing projects.

I am a hard-working and enthusiastic participant, ready to take on the many challenges facing dentistry. These include improving oral health and, thus, the overall health of the population, transitioning to preventive care and sustainable dentistry, and achieving Universal Health Coverage.

It would be a great honor and a source of pride for me to put my experience in public health at the service of the FDI Public Health Committee.

Yours sincerely

Dr Alexandre DEZA DDS
