

Invitation to participate in a survey of stakeholders' opinions about Dental Public Health skills

This survey seeks feedback from stakeholders about Dental Public Health (DPH) skills. It aims to help design the curriculum of a Joint International Master of Dental Public Health (JIM-DPH) degree in a project that is funded by the European Union. Four institutions are partners in the project: Alexandria University, Egypt (coordinator); University of Montpellier, France; University of Bergen, Norway and Obafemi Awolowo University, Nigeria. More information about the project can be found here: <https://ec.europa.eu/info/funding-tenders/opportunities/portal/screen/how-to-participate/org-details/999999999/project/101126931/program/43353764/details>

There are 3 sections in the survey.

Section 1 asks for consent to participate, whether the participant would prefer to be identified for acknowledgement by continent, country, field of work or more details.

Section 2 gathers information about the participant's country, the continent where the country is, whether DPH is recognized as a specialty in this country, and the number of DPH specialists.

Section 3 seeks the participant's opinion about the skills that DPH specialists need to have to meet oral health challenges.

We would be grateful if you could please give 5 minutes to answer the survey questions. Participation is totally voluntary, and you can quit the survey at any time. Your responses cannot be traced back to you and you can change them as long as you have not submitted them. Once you submit your responses, they cannot be retrieved.

Please, answer the questions based on your knowledge and experience of how DPH is practiced in your country and your opinion of the oral health needs of its population. Your responses represent what you may look for in a potential job applicant.

For questions, please contact the project coordinator, Prof Maha El Tantawi, Alexandria University, Egypt at: maha.tantawy@alexu.edu.eg
